

Ricardo José Ribeiro Pessoa (rrpessoa@terra.com.br)

Ricardo during his office hours in the LABISE, 2000.

Doctoral thesis (2001): Mecanismos de alojamento e construção do batólito granítico Neoproterozoico de Tavares, Estado da Paraíba, NE do Brasil (Advisor: Prof. A.N. Sial)

He graduated from the Federal University of Pernambuco (UFPE) in 1967, at Recife. He spent two years in traineeship at the University of São Paulo, attending post-graduate courses from 1974 through 1976 but only pursued a doctoral degree at the UFPE (1997–2001), in the UFPE, focusing on igneous petrology and structural geology. He was admitted in this University as an assistant-professor in 1968, teaching igneous petrology and, from 1977 on, he taught structural geology in the undergraduate level. He retired in 2015.